

STATE MONEY IDLE AND BANKS WARY.LOCAL COMMENT ON THE $750,000 SURPLUS.

Manipulation of Public Funds Last Summer to Help Favored Democratic Banks Caused Lack of Confidence—Rates of Interest Reduced From 3 to 2 Per Cent.

Among The Gazette's dispatches today was the following special from Madison:

"There are now $750,000 idle in the state treasury. The board of deposit today reduced the rate of interest from 3 to 2 per cent."

Now, most people would jump at the chance to borrow money at 3 per cent.

Why isn't state money just as good as anybody's?

Janesville has two state depositories—the First National and the Rock County. To an officer of one of these institutions the question was put:

"The reason banks can't afford to borrow state money even as low as 3 per cent. is the uncertainty," he replied. "State deposits can be drawn out without notice. Look at the pulling and hauling last summer. Whenever a bank that had a pull with the administration wanted money to tide over a squeeze, some bank that didn't have a pull would be ordered to return its deposit at once so the favored bank could get more cash. No regard was paid to business principles, political tactics were pursued from first to last. Bankers have grown afraid and prefer not to take the risk any longer unless they can get money cheap enough to compensate."

"Then the demand for money is nowhere near as active as it was last year. The banks all have plenty of money on hand, money they get without paying any interest at all. Lots of people want cash, of course, but the call for money in the business world is light. Democratic times do not encourage new industries."

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 21.—The bankers in Milwaukee who have been handling state funds and who have been paying 3 per cent interest upon the same have formally notified State Treasurer Hunner of their recent decision that they will not, after March 1, pay more than 2 per cent upon such deposits.

LABOR MEN ACT VERY UGLY.
Boston Unemployed Make a Demonstration—Serious Trouble Threatened.

BOSTON, Feb. 21.—The troubles with the unemployed in this city culminated in a demonstration on the Common yesterday, which for a time threatened to end in a riot.

Five thousand men, hungry, ragged and ugly, crowded into the statehouse and the adjoining grounds and vociferously demanded immediate aid in their distress. The governor addressed the mob from the steps of the statehouse and was quietly received and even applauded, although he made no satisfactory answer to their requests. An attempt was then made by the leaders of the demonstration to get a petition before the legislature which was then in session.

The rotunda was packed with a crowd of men who were waiting to hear the result of their leaders' efforts to present their grievances to the assembled solons, and when M. I. Swift, an avowed anarchist and the spokesman of the mob, appeared in one of the balconies and told them that the legislature had refused to accept their petitions they broke into yells of derision and hisses of contempt. Swift leaped over the balcony railing and launched forth into an impassioned tirade against the legislators, who, he said, were too busy creating corporations to listen to the voices of the starving men. The brass-buttoned officials and doorkeepers seemed paralyzed with fear, and Gov. Greenhalge, who only a few moments before was mingling with the mob, wisely retired to the legislative chamber. The few policemen who had been detailed to take care of the crowd were powerless, and soon the police wagons from the nearer stations were flying through the streets leading to Beacon Hill bearing 100 policemen to the scene.

It was noticed that the rail against which the impassioned Swift was leaning as he talked was very weak and that it might break. An officer was quick to apprehend an accident and placing his hand upon Swift's shoulder warned him of the danger. Swift stopped speaking, and the furious crowd below mistook the action for an arrest and rent the air with curses and excretions upon the police. They swayed back and forth, and it seemed as if violence was to be used, but the speaker quickly assured his followers of the real state of affairs and the excitement subsided. Meanwhile the house of representatives had remained in session and, upon the advice of some of the long-headed members, considered the petition from the mob.

It was decided to appoint a committee of seven to meet representatives of the unemployed to consider ways and means for their relief. Speaker Meyer of the house sent a message to the crowd apprising them of this decision, and it appeared them greatly.

A special detachment of police arrived at the side entrance of the state house. They entered and began forcing the mob slowly toward the big front doors. Clubs were drawn and the disgruntled crowd gave way. Then there was an uproar and many of the asperate members urged an attack upon the legislature, but those more sensible prevailed, and the crowd retreated and disbanded.

TROUBLES AT OTHER PLACES.

Colorado Smelters Blowing Out Their Furnaces—Coal Miners Ugly.

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 21.—The smelter owners have reduced their charges to the lowest figure in order that the mine owners might continue production. In the Cour d'Alene district in Montana the mines are embarrassed by the low price of silver and lead and the miners are dissatisfied over the question of wages and threaten to strike on the properties that are in operation.

BRAZIL, Ind., Feb. 21.—An unusually large meeting of the block coal operators of this district met in the Otter Creek Coal company's office here yesterday to consider the wage question for the year beginning May 1. The meeting was secret. It is generally conceded that the miners will be cut 25 or 30 cents a ton. No strike is anticipated, as it is believed the miners will accede to the reduction in hopes of getting steadier employment.

SALINEVILLE, Ohio, Feb. 21.—The miners of this district have decided to resist the proposed 20 per cent reduction in wages and to hold out for the old scale.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 21.—The news from the mining regions tells of both a strike and of men resuming work. About 1,500 miners went to work in the Eastern Ohio district yesterday, the district including the County of Belmont alone. The Wheeling Creek mines and all those along the Cleveland, Loraine and Wheeling railroad went to work under the terms agreed upon at the joint conference held in Columbus a few days ago. The mines along the Baltimore and Ohio as far west as Quincy went to work and the Gaylord mines above Martin's Ferry also resumed. The mines along the Wheeling and Lake Erie in Jefferson are still idle, but it is thought they will get matters fixed up and resume Monday next.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Feb. 21.—Several weeks ago nearly all the New Castle manufacturers and the railroads decided that they would employ no Italian labor, but would give the work to American citizens. As a result the Italians are on the verge of starvation.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 21.—Notwithstanding the action taken by the Amalgamated convention to stand firm for the scale, a number of puddlers have broken away and returned to work at the Keystone mill, accepting the $4 rate. The management claims to have sufficient numbers of men to operate eight furnaces and a general resumption will soon take place.

Trouble at Bessemer Exaggerated.

IRONWOOD, Mich., Feb. 21.—The reports of a riot of miners at Bessemer have been greatly exaggerated. There was a disturbance Saturday afternoon but there were no threats against life or property and not a single Bessemer citizen came here to get away from danger.

MISS POLLARD IN A BAD LIGHT.

Depositions Taken at Frankfort, Ky., in the Breach of Promise Suit.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 21.—Important depositions were taken here yesterday in the breach of promise suit of Miss Madeline B. Pollard against Congressman W. C. P. Breckinridge. Three witnesses were called by the defense. Mr. Alex. Julian testified that Christmas day, 1882, a mock marriage ceremony was performed between Mr. Owen Tinsley and Miss Madeline Pollard at the residence of Squire Tinsley, near Bridgeport, in this county. Mr. Tinsley later left the parlor, leaving the witness and Miss Madeline alone. The witness then described the conduct of Miss Pollard in a way that will greatly damage her interests. He added that Miss Madeline was too drunk to know what she was doing. He says that none of "Square Tinsley's" family knew of these occurrences. He said he had known Miss Madeline for many years before and after these occurrences and that their relations had always been familiar. He says that Miss Madeline was about 18 years of age at the time of the marriage. Other witnesses gave very damaging evidence against the plaintiff.

Chicago Fire Rates Increased.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—The Chicago Fire Underwriters' association yesterday afternoon decided upon a sweeping advance of 25 per cent in rates on mercantile risks. The change takes immediate effect. No chance was given agents or merchants to cancel their present policies and reinsure for another year at old rates before the increase could go into effect. It was the deliberate intention of the association not to be caught in this manner as it has been before, and it succeeded to a nicety.

Deputies Reject a Corn Monopoly.

PARIS, Feb. 21.—In the chamber of deputies yesterday the minister of husbandry combatted the Jaures project of a government monopoly for the sale of corn. The minister said that, according to M. Jaures, the government might monopolize milling, baking, etc. M. Jaures replied by attacking what he classed as the existing oligarchy of the chamber, but the deputies finally rejected M. Jaures' proposal by a vote of 438 to 52.

BEAT HER MOTHER
BECAUSE OF LOVE.TENDER AFFECTION SHOWN AT FOND DU LAC.

When Her Parent Upbraided Her For Going With Another Woman's Husband, Carrie Keys "Licked" Her "Maternal Ancestor" and the Injured Wife.

FOND DU LAC, Feb. 21.—When a Fond du Lac girl loves she loves hard. That's the reason why Carrie Keys whipped her mother and Mrs. Kelly both at once. Mrs. Kelly's husband had been courting Miss Keys to the neglect of his wife and three children. Mrs. Kelly located her husband at the Keys house. Mr. Kelly escaped by the back window route, leaving the women to fight it out with each other. Mrs. Kelly took the part of Mrs. Kelly and to-day she is confined to her bed by punishment received at the hands of her daughter. Mrs. Kelly says her husband has not spent a night at home for two months, but has reported at meal time. Neighbors may horsewhip the faithless husband.

EDITORS' BUSY DAYS.

Members of the Illinois Press Association Get to Work.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—From snow-clad Illinois—up from Freeport, Princeton, Joliet, Rockford, LaSalle, Elgin, Lawrenceville, Monticello, Kewanee, Warren, Quincy, Mammoth, Lincoln, Centralia, Harvard and other towns all over the state—came another relay of a hundred delegates to the twenty-ninth annual convention of the Illinois Press association.

The editors indulged in a short period of prayer as an inauguration for their annual meeting. Then the following committees were appointed: Credentials, resolutions, memorial, president's address and national delegates. The association devoted the remainder of the morning to the discussion of an able paper on "Benjamin Franklin as a Country Editor," which was read by B. B. Herbert of the National Journalist.

In the afternoon President Rosette read his annual address, in which he detailed the work of the organization during the last year. He noted the largely increased membership and said the association was never before so prosperous as it is to-day. An account of the special meeting held during the World's Fair recalled pleasant memories, and the president extended again hearty thanks to all those who had aided in the entertainment of the members.

To-day's program is as follows: Annual address, Gen. Smith D. Atkins, Journal, Freeport; "The Benefit of County Organizations," J. W. Clinton, Polo Press; "The Daily—How to Make It Pay in Cities of Less than 10,000," C. E. Snively, Canton Register; Frank T. Moran, Belvidere Northwestern; James H. Cox, Litchfield News.

IOWA LIQUOR BILL.

House Subcommittee Has Only One Point to Settle.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Feb. 21.—The house committee on the suppression of intemperance held an important session yesterday afternoon. At that time the subcommittee reported that it was able to agree upon all the provisions of the bill with one exception. This was in regard to whether or not the provisions of the bill that made the payment of the malt tax a bar to prosecutions should be applied to incorporated towns. After a full discussion it was voted to refer the bill back to the subcommittee with instructions that if it could not agree upon this point it should make two reports to the full committee and then the entire committee will take a hand at it.

WOMAN SUFFRAGISTS.

Last Day of the National Association Convention at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—To-day was the last of the twenty-sixth annual convention of the National American Woman Suffrage association and the morning session was devoted largely to clearing up the various odds and ends and also the report of the resolutions committee.

Lawrence of this city on the charge of causing the death of Emma Stegman, through a criminal operation, ended last evening in a verdict of not guilty. The jury reached a decision in twenty minutes. Dr. Lawrence is under indictment charged with the murder of Minnie Egan in the same way and was remanded to jail to await trial on that charge.

THE ROCKFORD A.P.A.
IS STILL ON DECK.FIGHT ON CHIEF HEFFRAN TO BE TAKEN UP AGAIN.

It Began Last Spring When the Anti Catholic Mayor Was Elected But Had Been Partially Abandoned—Petition of Protest Was Signed By Many People.

ROCKFORD, Feb. 21.—People who thought that the A. P. A.'s had quit warring on Chief Heffran, of the fire department, are evidently mistaken. Mayor Eutichins who is an A. P. A. knocked one man out and it is said that, encouraged by his triumph, he proposes to renew his fight on Fire Chief Heffran. It is stated positively that unless certain aldermen change front Heffran's head will soon fall. A deal has been made whereby, during the absence of Alderman Chandler, who voted for Heffran, there will be a shifting of the vote and that the mayor's appointment of First Assistant Julian will be confirmed. Long petitions against such a course have been prepared.

IN BIG DAN'S DEFENSE

Attorney Donahoe Begins Argument in the Coughlin Case.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—The defense opened its argument in the Coughlin case yesterday, and a fairly large crowd attended. The court room was brightened up by the presence of Mrs. Coughlin and her two children. Little Annie and her brother sat beside their mother, and Dan's face lit up with smiles when he turned it toward his little ones.

Mr. Donahoe began his argument for the defense by telling the jury that the prosecution in the case had depended upon perjury all the way through. Then he went for Kickham Scanlan hammer and tongs; said he slandered man and God in his speech; that he had called all the witnesses for the defense perjurers and thrust them aside as unworthy of belief. And it was possible that some man or woman in the audience might believe that Kickham Scanlan represented truth and justice. Mr. Bottom read the six counts of the indictment and told the jury that the state, in order to prove Coughlin guilty, had to prove that he was guilty of these six counts. He denied that the state had proved any of them. And the proof was necessary if the jury was to find Coughlin guilty.

The court adjourned while Mr. Donahoe was talking on Bardeen's testimony. On reconvening at 2 o'clock he continued his argument on that line.

RESPIRE FOR M'KANE.

Gravesend Boss Manages to Delay His Departure to Sing Sing Till Friday.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 21.—John Y. McKane did not go to Sing Sing yesterday. The order procured from Justice Cullen, of the Supreme court, which operates as a stay of proceedings until Friday, was served on the sheriff this morning. The order required that cause be shown on Friday why a stay of sentence should not be allowed, pending an appeal to the court of appeals. The prevailing legal opinion is that McKane's attorneys will fail to secure his release pending the appeal to the higher court and that he will have to go to Sing Sing.

EVANS ON HIS WAY TO PRISON

Sentenced to Imprisonment for Life in the Penitentiary.

FRESNO, Cal., Feb. 21.—After a night spent in his old quarters at the jail Chris Evans was brought into court at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. After a consultation with his attorneys he was sentenced to imprisonment for life at Folsom by Judge Harris. Evans seemed cheerful and greeted all who spoke to him pleasantly. A motion for new trial made by his attorneys was denied. He denies the story that he abused Mrs. Brighton. Evans wanted to be sentenced to San Quentin, but the judge denied the request. He was taken away on the noon train.

The Pennsylvania Election

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 21.—At 2 o'clock this morning the election returns indicate that the republicans have carried Pennsylvania by a plurality of fully 150,000, the greatest ever given the republican or any other ticket in the state. With the counties of Bradford, Bucks, Butler, Cambria, Clarion, Forest, Elk, Jefferson, Juniata and Mifflin not heard from, the state gives a plurality of 140,378 for Grow.

Big Blaze in an Opera House Block.

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 21.—Fire last night in the Funk Opera House building caused $50,000 damage. HOUSE MEMBERS ARRESTED.

Sergeant-at-Arms Forcing the Attendance of a Quorum.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—When the house met yesterday it was still deadlocked on the Bland bill, and the first thing in order was the consideration of the report of the sergeant-at-arms, who was instructed by resolution last night to arrest absentees. Mr. Reed raised a question as to the rights of the sergeant-at-arms to arrest Mr. Apsley of Massachusetts, who voted on the last call of the house.

Mr. Post of Illinois, who had also been arrested, explained that while he had not voted on the call of the house he had voted upon the subsequent motion to adjourn. Upon this representation he was excused.

The sergeant-at-arms then came forward at the request of the speaker and made his report. It was to the effect that thirty-seven telegrams had been sent to absentees, to which fifteen replies had been received. Five members replied that they were sick and ten were on their way to Washington. Seven members, the report stated, had been arrested, Messrs. Apsley, Gardner, Hilborn, Post, Randall, Lucas and Marvin (all republicans). The whereabouts of thirty-four members had not yet been ascertained.

The arrested members brought before the speaker were excused on giving a satisfactory explanation for their absence and immediately after Mr. Bland returned to the siege which he has been directing for the last week. The republicans and eastern democrats renewed their filibustering tactics, and as on yesterday succeeded in breaking a quorum. The vote resulted 162 to 5—twelve short of a quorum—and on motion of Mr. Bland the call of the house was ordered.

Other futile votes recurring. Mr. Bland stated that as it was evident a quorum could not be secured he moved an adjournment, and the house adjourned.

MAY CAUCUS ON THE TARIFF BILL.

Senator Gibson Holds the Opinion That One Will Be Held.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—There has been considerable talk about the senate of the prospect of a democratic caucus to consider the tariff bill. Senator Gibson of Maryland said he considered a caucus inevitable and that he thought it would be held during the first part of next week or possibly the latter part of the present week.

The sugar schedule appears to be at present the item which is giving the greatest annoyance and there is no doubt that but for the unsatisfactory status of this matter the other disputed questions would have been agreed upon before this time and the bill reported to the full committee. The opinion current about the senate is that while a majority of the subcommittee are opposed to any duty whatever on sugar they will concede about three-quarters of a cent. The members of the committee admit that the pressure is very strong for one and one-half cents.

Senate Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—In the senate yesterday Senator Murphy presented a large number of petitions protesting against the passage of the new tariff bill.

Senator Hill was designated to act as a member of the committee on woman suffrage in the absence of Senator Vance. This committee will give a hearing to Susan B. Anthony. Senator Wolcott was also designated to act as a member of this committee.

Senator Daniel of Virginia concluded his speech on "the Hawaiian question, and, while supporting the course that has been followed by the administration, he declared that now there was nothing to do but recognize the new government and wish it godspeed.

Senator Voorhees (dem., Ind.) presented a petition signed by 4,000 citizens of Massachusetts in favor of the passage of the tariff bill, and indicating that such legislation would be beneficial to Massachusetts industries.

The bill to provide additional accommodations for the government printing office was then read at length, and after an executive session the senate adjourned.

WHEELMEN DISCUSS COLOR.

Membership in the L. A. W. Limited to Whites Only.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 21.—The wheelmen were over an hour late in getting down to business yesterday. President Luscomb presided. After routine matters W. W. Watts took the floor on the color line question and spoke at length. He said that if the word "white" was inserted in the constitution the membership of the league would be increased 5,000 in the south. He was warmly applauded at the conclusion of his speech, but action on his amendment was deferred.

The question of the next meeting then came up, and Denver and Asbury Park presented their claims. Denver led off by offering $5,000 for entertaining purposes and $5,000 for prizes. Denver's eloquence proved too great to withstand and that city was selected for the next meet.

The color-line question was then taken up again, and after further debate the "White" amendment was adopted with six votes to spare over the two-thirds majority required.

Attorney John Winans was able to be present and the examination was taken up before Commissioner Smith. Clark reaffirmed his statement in Janesville that Milwaukee is his legal residence. He gave the history of the roster deal very much as Governor Peck gave it, although not accepting the liberal share of blame allotted to him by the other defendants.

FEARFUL WORK OF SLAVERS

Whole Towns Wiped Out in Africa—Horrible Details Given

LONDON, Feb. 21.—A correspondent describing the march of the expedition under Col. Ellis against the Sofas in Sierra Leone and the engagement between the French and British troops near Warina gives the details of the horrifying Sofa slave raids.

In some cases entire towns have been wiped out and their inhabitants butchered and scattered. The once thriving town of Tekiviana, which a few months ago had 3,000 inhabitants, is now a scene of desolation. All the houses are in ashes and the headless and mutilated trunks of men, women and children are lying heaped amid the ruins. Col. Ellis liberated hundreds of slaves.

The Sanitary Conference.

The delegates of the government have been instructed to raise the question of emigration between Europe and the United States. This will be impossible, however, as such a question must be discussed apart.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 21.—The surface of the Gaylord mine is somewhat "soggy" and the work of rescue is proceeding very cautiously.

INGERSOLL SAYS GROVER IS A JOKE

IN AN INTERVIEW HE REVIEWS NATIONAL AFFAIRS.

Hawaii Made the President a Laughing Stock—All Religions Very Much Alike, the Great Agnostic Declares, and the Congress in Chicago Emphasized this Fact.

Be it said to Janesville's discredit the greatest orator on the American platform spoke last night to a $450 house.

Empty seats and Ingersoll! The two are seldom associated.

And yet last night the gallery at the Myers was empty, the balcony but half filled and many good seats remained in the orchestra and orchestra circle.

The comparison between democratic and republican times could not be made stronger than by counting last night's audience and then the throng that felt able to pay a dollar to hear Ingersoll a few years ago.

"Lincoln" as a theme is treated very differently from "Mistakes of Moses." There is not the one close knit line of thought from beginning to end that marks Colonel Ingersoll's diatribe on Old Testament law. Instead the martyr president's elements of strength are taken one at a time and used as texts for brief homilies on human frailties. Epigrams abound, the brilliancy of the lecture in this respect being almost dazzling.

Colonel Ingersoll left for Chicago at 8 o'clock this morning accompanied by his wife. "Mammy," as he affectionately terms his stately, gray-haired spouse accompanies him on all his lecture tours. To-night they will take supper in Bay City, Michigan.

Why He Is "Agin" Free Trade.

Before he went to the opera house last evening Colonel Ingersoll was seen by a representative of the Gazette. He talked freely, and so rapidly that it took a clever stenographer to keep pace with him. As he dealt with political themes he used several of the illustrations that found place later in his lecture.

"What is your opinion of the tariff bill and do you believe it will pass the senate?" he was asked.

I am opposed to the Wilson bill, at least to many of its provisions. I believe that it will be impossible under that bill for American manufacturers of many articles to compete with foreigners. You see, the trouble is in this. The principal value of everything is the labor that it takes to produce it. For instance, here is a locomotive worth ten or twelve thousand dollars. The raw material of that engine is not worth twenty dollars.

By raw material, I mean the ore in the ground. All the rest, with the exception of the profit, is labor pure and simple. A ship worth three or four hundred thousand dollars has only a good half hundred dollars worth of raw material in it. Nearly all of its value is the labor it takes to produce it, and the cheaper the labor the cheaper the ship. The price of labor in this country is from 20 to 40 per cent. higher than in England, Germany and Belgium and 50 to 50 per cent. higher than in some countries, and so on. If the American competes with the foreigner he must lower his wages.

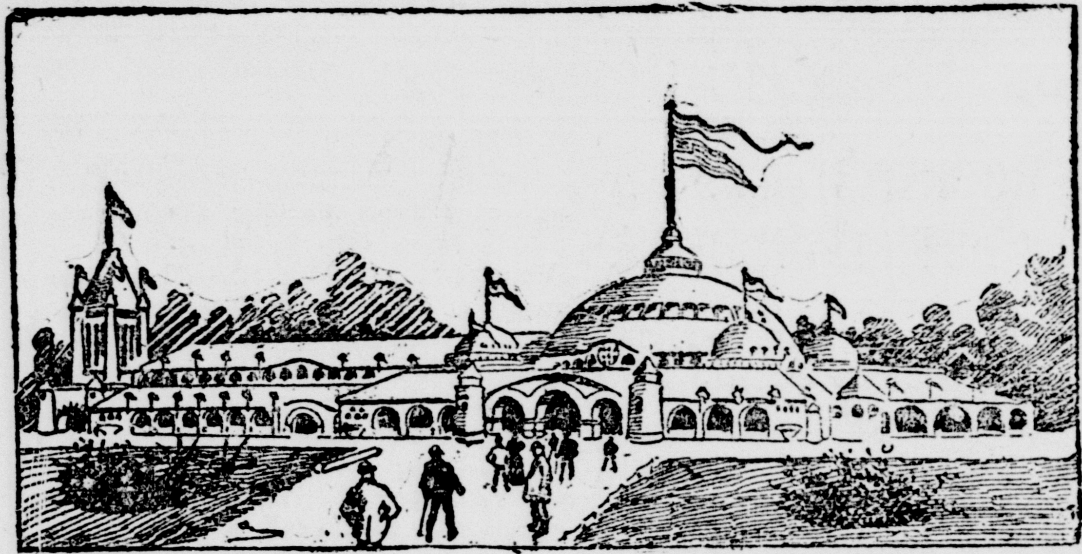

"Red Calico and a Few Hats."

"I have no high idea of the foreign markets. The people of the United States are the greatest consumers per capita in the world. The seventy millions of Americans consume more than all the people of China, and you might throw in half of India besides. The foreign trade is of but little value. The people of Mexico, who are next to

is, use but little. They buy a little red calico, a few hats, and a little alcohol, and that is about all. Their wants are few, and they live nearly upon nothing, with a few red peppers added. To-day, I suppose England has the largest foreign trade; but that trade is gradually getting smaller for the reason that you cannot trade with people without educating them, and the customers of England are beginning to make things themselves that they formerly bought. They are now buying machines instead of manufactured articles, and in a little while they will probably make the machines themselves. There is nothing in the world that England covets like the trade of America. Take off the tariff and England would capture our market and fill our country with her goods, and the result would be that England would become rich and we very poor.

Farmer Can't Afford to Sell Wheat.

"Now, just to the extent that the Wilson bill reduces the wages of the country, and just to the extent that imperils our market, I think it bad. My reason is this. People who sell raw material will become poor and ignorant. People who manufacture will become intelligent and wealthy. The farmer who sells wheat will never pay off his mortgage. The farmer who raises corn, and sells hogs, cattle and horses will grow wealthy and have money to loan. It is far better for our people to make locomotives than to sell iron ore. People who raise raw material will cultivate only muscle. I am for protection because it will develop the industries of this country; because it will develop the brains of the people and will find use for their talents and for every kind of genius; and secondly will raise greater men and greater women, which after all is the best crop. The people of the south are behind the Wilson bill. They have always believed in free trade. If their country had been full of factories; if they could have made cannon and firearms cloth ships and monitors, the probability is that secession would have been a success. But they knew nothing of these things and they had to get what little they could from England and the result was that they failed. The south wants to raise raw material and as long as the south raises raw material it will be poor as compared with the north, west and east.

Good Times Next Monday.

I want every thing used here to be made in this country. I want the country independent, as nearly as possible, of all others, so in the event of war we may have enough without asking aid from any other land. I want to see all the factories start up. I want to see the chimneys full of fire and smoke. I want to hear the buzz of the wheels. I want to see the mechanics employed at good wages, living in decent houses with enough to eat and drink, and the children going to school and I believe the republican party could come into power tomorrow, the times would be good next Monday. I hardly believe the Wilson bill will pass the senate. The democrats have a very small majority and certainly the senators from Louisiana will not vote for it. I doubt very much if Senator Hill, of New York, will support it, and my hope is that it will be defeated. It may be that Cleveland is holding back his appointments to be used just at the right time to secure the passage of the bill, but I do not believe even that will give him success."

The Hawaiian Matter.

"In the light of circumstances, as they now exist, what do you think congress should do with the Hawaiian matter?"

"I think Grover Cleveland has acted in an inexplicable manner. Personally I am in favor of the annexation of the Sandwich Islands. I think this country ought to own them. They are a good way from us but nearer to us than any other nation of importance. I am in favor of the accession of the West Indies, and the Bahamas and the Barbadoes. I think this country ought to own all those islands. If the Sandwich Islands were annexed many thousands of Americans would immediately go there, and it would be but a short time when they would be in control, and I think these islands would give this country great power in the Pacific, and at the same time be of immense importance, commercially. Mr. Cleveland's idea of putting Queen Lili back on the throne is more Quixotic than anything told by Cervantes. I cannot imagine why he did it or what purpose he expected to accomplish. Nothing has ever happened more laughable, and, at the same time, it is not altogether honest. Mr. Cleveland sent Willis as a minister accredited to the provincial government of Hawaii and he gave him a letter to President Dole, and in that letter he called him his great and good friend; and at the same time the president gave Willis directly contrary instructions. He told him to break up Dole and put him out at the first opportunity. This may be diplomacy but it is hardly honorable, and will take a great many democratic congresses to put white wash enough on Cleveland to obscure that record."

About Secretary Gresham.

This declaration seemed to fit pretty closely to Secretary Gresham, whom Colonel Ingersoll supported for the presidency so enthusiastically in 1888. The Gazette man suggested hesitatingly:

"Are you willing to express an opinion as to Secretary Gresham's future political career?"

"I am a friend of Judge Gresham, and have been for many years," responded the colonel evasively. "He was an admirable judge. He is a man of most excellent sense, fine temper, an original and just man, but I think he made a mistake in voting for Cleveland. I have no doubt as to his honesty, but still I think he made a mistake, and as did once what I did not expect, I do not feel able to prophesy what he will do next, but I want it distinctly understood that I am his friend, and believe that he acted as he thought he ought."

LINCOLN MADE IT NOT ONLY POSSIBLE BUT POPULAR FOR A PRESIDENT TO BE NATURAL.

"Do you think Mr. Harrison will be a candidate for the presidential nomination in '96?"

"I do not. I think Harrison's administration was good enough. I think him an able man, but I do not think he has the ability, temperament or the something, to increase the strength of the party. He lacks the something that binds man to man. He is intellectual enough but not social and I do not believe he will be nominated."

Presidential Probabilities.

"Whom do you regard as the most likely candidate of the republican party for 1896?"

"Well, presidential nominations, according to the little experience I have had, are generally accidents. It is very hard to tell who will be at the front in '96. I think that the best all-round man, is Reed of Maine. He is a man of most excellent sense, fine temper, original mind, always is himself, and he knows what he knows all the time, and I think he would make a most excellent president. So also, I like McKinley,—a very straight forward, honorable, able man. But no one can tell what will happen. Some man may do some splendid thing that will bring him before the people in a way that he will gain the nomination; and some man now, whose chance appears good, may cast some unfortunate remark or make an enemy that will happen to have power that will change the entire outlook. I think all the great presidents in this country have been nominated by accident; or may be it would be better to say by chance. A man who expresses himself, who has decided views, and who has no fear of expressing himself, makes enemies. And, as I have often said, a successful politician in this country is much like the center of the earth—he draws everything his way without weighing anything himself. Personally I have little to do with politics and consequently have no source of information that would enable me to make even a guess as to who is to be nominated."

Effect of the Religious Congress.

"What do you think will be the effect of the religious congress on the orthodox church in America?"

"I think it will be good—that is, I think the tendency will be to dispel what may be called provincial prejudices. All religions are in substance alike, as they take the ordinary or the average code of morals, and then they add to this some miracles and revelations, attested by signs and wonders. They have sermons and some priests; and then they prohibit the doing of certain things that are not naturally wrong, such as not eating meat on Friday, or not dancing in Lent, or that you must make a pilgrimage to some shrine. Then they take up a subscription. Their gods are morally the same, and in a general way their teachings are much alike. Of course every church claims to have found the truth; so there is no need of thinking any more on the subject. And in that way all the churches are the enemies of intellectual freedom. Now in this congress, they heard what each other had to say and they all talked about alike, except that the Buddhists appeared to be a little nearer salvation than some of the christians, their creed not quite as hard and cruel since they showed a little more tenderness toward the animal world.

Unessentials and Character.

"As we become civilized ourselves, as we become candid, the church finds the things about which they have been quarreling are of no importance. A man of real good sense now knows that it makes no difference whether he is sprinkled or immersed, or whether baptised at all. Thoughtful men now know that character is far beyond creed and that a good kind, honest believer is a good deal better than a coarse, malicious, stingy believer. In other words kindness is far beyond and greater than faith. This process is going on every day. When a dogma becomes too silly to preach in the pulpit, they then preach it for a while in the Sunday school, and when it becomes too silly for the children they then send it down south and give it to the negroes, or go to some other country and stuff the heathen. But I think all the churches are gradually improving, and I must cheerfully admit that there are hundreds and thousands of most excellent ministers, self-denying and honest, trying to make the world better. I have no fight to make on persons. I attack ideas, theories and philosophies that I think are wrong, but not people.

"The Mohammedans are just as sincere as the Christians, and I believe they have more missionaries than any other religious body in the world. In other words the Mohammedan is the greatest missionary religion in the world. I do not attack the sincerity but the absurdity of the people, the cruelty of many creeds, and beyond all this the horrible dogma of eternal pain."

WATROUS IS AFTER THE G. A. R. VOTE.

JANESVILLE ENCAMPMENT CAUSES WIRE-PULLING.

When the Old Soldiers of the State Meet Here on April 24, Two Milwaukee Candidates Will Present Their Names for the Department Commandership.

The approach of the state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, which is to be held in this city April 24, has caused speculations about the selection of a state commander. Several years have passed since a Milwaukee man occupied the high position. The comrades in the interior have been disinclined to recognize the claims put forward by the Milwaukee delegations. Milwaukee against the field—was the observation to be made during the last two or three encampments. This year, it is stated by influential members of the order the chances, are in favor of a Milwaukeean and two names are frequently mentioned in connection with the office, viz: Col. J. A. Watrous and Dr. Carlson. The former was put in nomination for office at the encampment last year. His friends counted on his success, but were disappointed. Colonel Watrous is esteemed throughout the state and although a republican, he always, it is asserted, has refrained from mixing politics with the affairs of the order.

Dr. Carlson has filled several important offices and has a large following among the old soldiers and the array of his supporters in the encampment will be formidable.

Much depends upon the disposition of the delegates from posts in the interior of the state. A good number of them have not signified their intentions as to the choice of commander, but it is generally believed that the Milwaukee candidates need not fear any opposition.

DID NOT STEAL HIS BRIDE.

Dr. F. E. Billings a Free Man Once More—He Alleges Spite.

Dr. F. E. Billings, who was said to have stolen his bride from her Lancaster home, has returned from Lancaster. He went in charge of an officer, but says this was owing entirely to a misunderstanding, and his coolness upon his arrest bespoke his innocence. The doctor says he is married, and has been for some time, and has the necessary papers to show for it. He says he or his wife were never at Lancaster, and that his wife does not have fits, but says he can cure any case of fits there is a cure for.

Fake Sales.

A great deal has been written and said about "fake sales" since we commenced our great money raising sale. If any one thinks we are not doing as we advertise, let them come in and see. One of our best business men said to-day to another business man: "You can call Rosenfeld's sale a 'fake sale' if you desire, but I am here to tell you it is a genuine money-raising sale. I think the fellow is hard up and must have money. I am now wearing a suit of clothes that I bought of him for $12.50 which I consider just as good, and fits me just as well as I have been in the habit of paying a merchant tailor $30 to $40 for. I propose to get one of those Irish frieze ulsters for $10.00 before the day is over. They are the best bargains in the city." We can give the name of these men, and those who desire to know can find out by calling at the store.

For instance, you can find on that counter, handsome bottles with cut glass stoppers that cost $1.75 each for 50 cents; luster band coffee cups and saucers 10 cents a pair; decorated saucers 2 cents each; French china bowls and covers with handles, worth $1.25, cost 75 cents each; for 50 cents each; decorated china spoon holders 5 cents each.

Pea Jackets $4.50

We have some elegant pea jackets, blue chinchilla, all wool, fast colors, double breasted coats and vests, generally sell for $10. BANJO CLUB WILL PLAY HERE

Madison Musicians Appear in Janesville April 9.—News of Janesville Students

MADISON, Feb. 20.—Among the reforms that have been inaugurated by President Adams since his connection with the university is one along social lines. Heretofore the parties given by the classes have been monopolized largely by the so-called society people. Those who did not possess full dress suits or costumes have generally stayed away. The first step in the reform movement was taken last Saturday evening, when the members of the battalion gave a military hop, an informal affair at which military uniforms were the correct thing and dress suits were debarred. The affair was a complete success. Ralph Jackman was one of the committee of arrangements. The University Glee banjo and mandolin clubs will take in Janesville on their trip during the spring vacation, their date for Janesville being April 9. The clubs are all in fine shape this year. William Ruger, who has held the place of corporal in the university battalion has been recently promoted to a sergenty.

DAY OF THE HATCHET HONORED

Schools to Observe Washington's Birthday With Appropriate Ceremonies

Washington's birthday anniversary will be appropriately observed in the city schools tomorrow. United States flags will float from the staffs on each building, and exercises relating to the day will be held in each school.

William Smith will address the pupils of the high school in the morning, telling the youngsters all about the cherry tree act, and how George ferried his boys across the Delaware dodging the ice floes.

Flags will also be displayed on the city buildings, the Armory and fire stations.

ROMANTIC PLAY HERE FRIDAY

Fabio Romani to Be Given At the Myers This Week.

Of Aiden Benedict's play—"Fabio Romani" at the Myers, February 23d. The New York Monday Journal says: "Those having read the book entitled 'Vendetta' will easily remember the pretext of the story; a deceived husband pretends suicide and then comes back in disguise to torture the unfaithful wife, finally killing her at the moment he makes himself known. The novel furnishes several intense scenes."

Tired, Weak, Nervous

"I was in a discouraging condition, my health and strength almost gone. I had that tired feeling frequently, and had rheumatism so severely that I had to walk with a cane. I felt tired of life and was a burden to others. Nervous spells and dizziness added to my sufferings and greatly reduced my strength. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and soon was so much better that I kept on until I felt like a different person. I owe my present good health to Hood's Sarsaparilla and cordially recommend it as a good all-round medicine." MRS. MARY C. CRYDERMAN, La Fontaine, Kansas.

A Whimsical Chap.

Once tried to quote Bulwer (was it Bulwer?) and said, "Great aches from little toe corns grow," and altho' he didn't exactly quote he got there, got there as it were, with both feet, at least with a part of both.

"To be or not to be," said Shakespeare, (or Bacon?) and he toe, may not be far off. Foot it over hill and dale, 'til you are weary and foot-sore, and you cannot find such bargains as we offer in building sites, homesites, for on these and the prices of the same and terms, too, we always did "see the mark." For some reason we are this spring getting onto the goods, the prices and the terms with both feet. And so, with Hamlet we soliloquize: "The wonder grows, why people are not 'up in arms' when the prices we quote are looked into. You can get a home, if you wish, so long as we are in the business; hard times don't count. If you are not earning so much money as you did last year, we will meet you; it don't matter.

Homesites and Homes are our fad; to help people get 'em is what we are on earth for, this time.

The main secret, we suppose, why we always get the major part of the real estate trade going, is that we own a large part of the property that we offer. Another part of the secret is, we deal every time so that our customer sends to us his or her friend when they want to deal.

Our beginnings here were not large, but so true it is that "Great oaks from little acorns grow," that the "birds of the air" have their homes,—build their nests,—in the result of our grain of mustard seed. Come over and roost with us. Yours very truly,

GEO. L. & SARAH H. CARRINGTON.

NEED NOT REGISTER AT THIS ELECTION.

COUNCIL HAS THE POWER TO LESSEN WORK.

Three Hundred Dollars Would Be Saved By Dispensing With this Formality But It Would Mean One Less Safe-Guard—How the Election Boards Stand.

It is optional with the common council this spring whether Janesville voters register or not.

The last legislature passed a number of amendments to the general election law, one of which relates to registration at municipal and judicial elections. According to the amended law the common council has jurisdiction, and may by resolution order or omit the registration at any municipal or judicial election, by publishing notice thirty days prior to the election. Therefore Janesville's course will depend alto; ether upon what action the common council takes on Monday evening.

There are many things in favor of registration. Fraudulent voting is prevented and election boards are given a complete list of legal voters before the election occurs. The only objection is that of expense. The cost of registration in Janesville is about three hundred dollars.

How the Boards Stand.

The boards of registry with clerks of election, as appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the council last September, are as follows:

STRAUSS ALLEGES CONSPIRACY.
Begins Suit Against Dr. Anderson and Rev. Mr. Sherven and Daughter.

Simon Strauss has turned upon his enemies in a way that looks like business. Yesterday the papers were served upon Lars Sherven and wife, also his daughter, Ragna Sherven and Dr. H. B. Anderson, charging them with conspiracy to extort money from Mr. Strauss. The complaint asks for $25,000 damages. An action was begun a while ago by Mr. Sherven charging Mr. Strauss with improper relations with his daughter, Ragna Sherven. Since that time Mr. Strauss and his attorneys have been quietly collecting testimony and now it is claimed they have facts in their possession which will completely exonerate Mr. Strauss and show the defendants to be guilty of a conspiracy. Some time ago Strauss caused the arrest of Dr. H. B. Anderson on the charge of assault. Anderson claimed that Strauss had led eighteen-year-old Ragna Sherven, the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Sherven astray. When he made the discovery he alleged that he assaulted Strauss but denied that he used an iron bar or broke Strauss' arm as the plaintiff claimed. After Anderson punished Strauss as much as he thought Strauss deserved he took Strauss back to his office and dressed the injuries. Some weeks afterward, Strauss claims, Dr. Bennett of Brodhead, examined the arm and found it broken. Dr. Anderson was held for trial to the circuit court but the complaint was amended and the doctor paid a nominal fine and the case was ended.

Strauss claimed that Dr. Anderson and the girl conspired against him and that his being with Miss Sherven and the doctors assault on him were both arranged and a part of the plot to blackmail him. The second chapter was a suit for damage begun by Rev. Sherven against Strauss to recover for the alleged ruining of his daughter. This case has not yet been tried. Now comes Mr. Strauss' suit against Dr. Anderson, Ragna Sherven and Rev. Mr. Sherven for conspiring to extort money from him.

D. F. SULLIVAN FOR ALDERMAN
Rockford People Want to Elevate the Former Janesville Man to Office.

D. F. Sullivan is now being talked about as an available candidate for alderman of the First ward, Rockford, on the license ticket. The Republican asks: "What is the matter with D. F. Sullivan?" and then says: "His success in business shows him to be a level-headed man with ability to grapple with municipal questions. He is young and enterprising; he is a large tax payer and has done as much as any young man in the ward to improve it and a great deal more than some older men in it. If business men with property interests are wanted in the council the First ward might do well to start off with D. F. Sullivan."

THE Recorder seems to have forgotten the bills that General Doe put in for legal services that made the city pay five times as much as was necessary. If the people had given Mr. Doe an assistant who was a lawyer, they wouldn't have been taxed so heavily on judgments. Perhaps, however, the Recorder isn't responsible for the screed published this morning. It does not read like a newspaper man's work, but rather like that of some jealous lawyer.

THE CAB BROKEN IN BY STEEL FLAILS.

BOTH SIDE BARSON A ST. PAUL ENGINE BREAK.

Engineer P. Whalen and Thomas James Have to Scramble Back On the Tender to Save their Lives—Brakeman Van Veeder Loses a Leg A Big Train.

Engineer P. Whalen and Fireman Thomas James had to scramble for their lives and it was but by "scratching" that they escaped injury when the side bars on their St. Paul passenger engine broke and began flying around like the arm of a runaway windmill. The accident happened between North Prairie and Eagle. The engine was pulling the Milwaukee passenger which leaves here at 9:30 in the morning. When midway between the two stations both side bars on the engine broke and the ends whipped about at a lively rate. Engineer Whalen shut off steam and thus kept the driving bars from knocking the cylinder heads out but the heavy bars nearly wrecked the engine as they beat about. The engineer and fireman scrambled back on the tender and escaped injury. The driving bars are the heavy steel rods that connect the wheels and the cylinders, and when they get to going something has got to break.

Van Veeder Lost a Leg.

Bleeding and unconscious Horace Van Veeder was picked up from beside the St. Paul tracks at Gratiot this morning, and half an hour later physicians had cut one of his legs off. Van Veeder is a freight brakeman, and in some way he got under the wheels. Before he could regain his feet, he had been run down and maimed for life. His injury will not result in death unless some complication set in. He was well known here as his run took him through Janesville.

Conductor Meloy and Engineer Young of the Chicago & Northwestern took out a long train this morning. They had forty loaded cars and twenty empty ones. As a mogul engine is only scheduled to draw forty "loads" and this time they had twenty four in addition the load was a good one. The train was sent to Afton which line is nearly all down grade.

A Grand Success.

It was a very easy matter to become convinced that Archie Reid's special sale of linens to-day was a success. At 8 o'clock this morning the store was crowded, and as the day wore away, the crowd became greater. It was an impossibility to get along the aisles with any comfort. It seemed to a "looker on" that every lady in the city had taken advantage of this sale. They crowded into the store and pushed each other aside to get to the linen counters to take advantage of the bargains offered. Archie Reid's popularity as a bargain-giver has become wide-spread, and when he makes a special sale the people know at once that it is one. To-day's business was an eye-opener.

BITS FROM LAST NIGHT'S LECTURE

A NATION to be great must produce great men.

LINCOLN wore no official robe on his body or soul.

I HOLD north and south alike blameable for slavery.

OBSTINACY wants its own way; firmness wants the right way.

THE deliverer of one era is sometimes the tyrant of the next.

THE extremists of the democratic party are always headed to the rear.

LINCOLN made it not only possible but popular for a president to be natural.

It is not a common thing to elect a really great man president of the United States.

NOTHING so tests the character as the use of power. It is easy for the weak to be gentle.

GENIUS always looks as if it carried too much sail. The ballast of dullness often insures success.

It is because of Robert Burns that when the roll of nations is called Scotland can proudly answer "here."

WHAT care we for a constitution—for a paper written on by dead hands—unless it appeals to our hearts to-day.

THE reformers of every age stand with their faces to the east bathed by the ever-brighter dawning of the ever-grander day.

LINCOLN's religion was like that of Franklin, Jefferson, Paine and Voltaire. They all believed in a God and hoped for a hereafter.

THE politician schemes day and night to see what the people will do for him, the statesman works day and night to see what he can do for the people.

Smith presented a neat card showing him to be "Dealer and General Agent for Bicycles and Bicycle Supplies." The address on the card was 20 North Main street. The check came back from Buffalo today marked worthless, and it was found that 20 North Main street is a vacant store. The cards which Smith presented were not printed in any Janesville office.

Smith tried to pass a check on A. H. Sheldon & Co., but was refused.

Death of Anthony Minick.

Anthony Minick died this morning aged eighty-six years. He was one of the early settlers of La Prairie township residing on his farm near "Happy Hollow." Mr. Minick had been sick for some time, suffering with brain trouble. He leaves two children, Mrs. Richard Hogan and W. H. Minick, both of this city. Funeral will be held Friday, probably from the Young's school house, near the home.

REV. DR. TALMAGE ON "THE LIGHTNING OF THE SEA."

A Most Eloquent Discourse From Job 41: xxxii, "He maketh a Path to Shine After Him"— The Audience Enchained With Interest.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 18.—In the Brooklyn tabernacle this forenoon, Rev. Dr.
Talmage preached an unusually attractive and eloquent gospel sermon to a crowded audience who listened with rapt interest. The subject was "The Lightning of the Sea," the text selected being Job 41: xxxii, "He maketh a path to shine after him."

If for the next thousand years ministers of religion should preach from this Bible there will yet be texts unexpounded, and unexplained, and unappreciated. What little has been said concerning this chapter in Job from which my text is taken, bears on the leviathan described as disturbing the sea. What creature it was I know not.
Some say it was a whale. Some say it was a crocodile. My own opinion is it was a sea monster now extinct. No creature now floating in Mediterranean or Atlantic waters corresponds to Job's description.

What most interests me is that as it moved on through the deep it left the waters flashing and resplendent. In the words of the text: "He maketh a path to shine after him." What was that illumined path? It was phosphorescence. You find it in the wake of a ship in the night, especially after rough weather. Phosphorescence is the lightning of the sea. That this figure of speech is correct in describing its appearance I am certified by an incident. After crossing the Atlantic the first time and writing from Basle, Switzerland, to an American an account of my voyage, in which nothing more fascinated me than the phosphorescence in the ship's wake, I called it the lightning of the sea.
Returning to my hotel I found a book of John Ruskin, and the first sentence my eyes fell upon was his description of phosphorescence, in which he called it "The Lightning of the Sea." Down to the postoffice I hastened to get the manuscript, and with great labor and some expense got possession of the magazine article and put quotation marks around that one sentence, although it was original with me as with John Ruskin.

I suppose that nine-tenths of you living so near the sea-coast have watched this marine appearance called phosphorescence, and I hope that the other one-tenth may some day be so happy as to witness it. It is the waves of the sea diamonded; it is the inflorescence of the billows; the waves of the sea crimsoned, as was the deep after the sea-fight of Lepanto; the waves of the sea on fire. There are times when from horizon to horizon the entire ocean seems in conflagration with this strange splendor, as it changes every moment to tamer or more dazzling color on all sides of you. You sit looking over the taffrail of the yacht or ocean steamer watching and waiting to see what new thing the God of beauty will do with the Atlantic.
It is the ocean in transfiguration; it is the marine world casting its garments of glory in the pathway of the Almighty as he walks the deep; it is an inverted firmament with all its stars gone down with it. No picture can present it, for photographer's camera can not be successfully trained to catch it, and before it the hand of the painter drops its pencil overawed and powerless. This phosphorescence is the appearance of myriads of the animal kingdom rising, falling, playing, flashing, living, dying. These luminous animalcules for nearly one hundred and fifty years have been the study of naturalists and the fascination and solemnization of all who have brain enough to think. Now, God, who puts in his Bible nothing trivial or useless, calls the attention of Job, the greatest scientist of his day, to this phosphorescence, and as the leviathan of the deep sweeps past, points out the fact that "he maketh a path to shine after him."

Is that true of us now and will it be true of us when we have gone? Will there be subsequent light or darkness?
Will there be a trail of gloom or good cheer? Can any one between now and the next 100 years say of us truthfully as the text says of the leviathan of the deep, "He maketh a path to shine after him?" For we are moving on. While we live in the same house, and transact business in the same store, and write on the same table, and chisel in the same studio, and thresh in the same barn, and worship in the same church, we are in motion and are in many respects moving on, and we are not where we were ten years ago, nor where we will be ten years hence.
Moving on! Look at the family record, or the almanac, or into the mirror, and see if any one of you is where you were. All in motion. Other feet may trip, and stumble, and halt, but the feet of not one moment for the last sixty centuries has tripped, or stumbled, or halted. Moving on! Society moving on! The world moving on! Heaven moving on! The universe moving on! Time moving on! Eternity moving on! Therefore, it is absurd to think that we ourselves can stop, as we must move with all the rest. Are we like the creature of the text, making our path to shine after us? It may be a peculiar question, but my text suggests it.
What influence will we leave in this world after we have gone through it? "None," answer hundreds of voices, "we are not one of the immor-tals. Fifty years after we are out of the world it will be as though we never inhabited it." You are wrong in saying that. I pass down through this audience and up through these galleries, and I am looking for some one whom I can not find. I am looking for one who will have no influence in this world 100 years from now. But I have found the man who has the least influence, and I inquire into his history and I find that by a yes or a no he decided some one's eternity. In time of temptation he gave an affirmative or a negative to some temptation which another, hearing of, was induced to decide in the same way. Clear on the other side of the next million years may be the first you hear of the long-reaching influence of that yes or no, but hear of it if you will. Will that father make a path to shine after him? Will that mother make a path to shine after her? You will be walking along these streets, or along that country road, 200 years from now in the character of your descendants.

They will be affected by your courage or your cowardice, your purity or your depravity, your holiness or your sin. You will make the path to shine after you or blacken after you. Why should they point out to us on some mountain two rivulets, one of which passes down into the rivers which pour out into the Pacific ocean and the other rivulet flowing down into the rivers which pass out into the Atlantic ocean? Every man, every woman, stands at a point where words uttered, or deeds done, or prayers offered, decide opposite destinies and opposite eternities. We see a man planting a tree, and treading the sod firmly on either side of it, and watering it in dry weather, and taking a great care in its culture, and he never plucks any fruit from its bough; but his children will. We are all planting trees that will yield fruit hundreds of years after we are dead; orchards of golden fruit, or groves of deadly upas.
I am so fascinated with the phosphorescence in the track of a ship that I have sometimes watched for a long while, and have seen nothing on the face of the deep but blackness. The mouth of watery chasms that looked like gaping jaws of hell. Not a spark as big as the firefly; not a white scroll of surf; not a taper to illumine the mighty sepulchers of dead ships; darkness three thousand feet deep, and more thousands of feet long and wide.
That is the kind of wake that a bad man leaves behind him as he plows through the ocean of this life toward the vaster ocean of the great future.

Now, suppose a man seated in a corner grocery, or business office among clerks, gives himself to jolly skepticism. He laughs at the Bible, makes sport of the miracles, speaks of perdition in jokes, and laughs at revivals as a frolic, and at the passage of a funeral procession, which always solemn-izes sensible people, says, "Boys, let's take a drink." There is in that group a young man who is making a great struggle against temptation, and prays night and morning, and reads his Bible, and is asking God for help day by day. But that guffaw against Christianity makes him lose his grip of sacred things and he gives up Sabbath, and church, and morals, and goes from bad to worse, till he falls under dissipations, dies in a lazar house and is buried in the potter's field. Another young man who heard that jolly skepticism made up his mind that "it makes no difference what we do or say, for we will all come out at last at the right place," began, as a consequence, to jangle. Some money that came into his hands for others he applied to his own uses, thinking perhaps he could make it straight some other time, and all would be well even if he did not make it straight. He ends in the penitentiary. That scoffing who uttered the jokes against Christianity never realized what bad work he was doing, and he passed on through life, and out of it, and into a future that I am not now going to depict. I do not propose with a search-light to show the breakers of the awful coast on which that ship is wrecked, for my business now is to watch the sea after the keel has plowed it. No phosphores-cence in the wake of that ship, but behind it two souls struggling in the wake; two young men destroyed by reckless skepticism, an unillumin-ated ocean beneath, and on all sides of them. Blackness of darkness. You know what a gloriously good man Rev John Newton was, the most of his life, but before his conversion he was a very wicked sailor and on board the ship "Harwich," instilled infidelity and vice in the mind of a young man, principles which destroyed him.
Afterward the two met and Newton tried to undo his bad work, but in vain. The young man became worse and worse, and died a profligate, horrifying with his profanities those who stood by him in his last moments.
Better look out what bad influence you start, for you may not be able to stop it. It does not require very great force to ruin others. Why was it that many years ago a great flood nearly destroyed New Orleans? A crawfish had burrowed into the banks of the river until the ground was saturated, and the banks weakened until the flood burst.

But I find here a man who starts out in life with the determination that he will never see suffering but he will try to alleviate it; and never see discouragement but he will try to cheer it; and never meet with anybody but he will try to do him good. Getting his strength from God, he starts from home with high purpose of doing all the good he can possibly do in one day.
Whether standing behind the counter, or talking in the business office with a pen behind his ear, or making a bargain with a fellow-trader, or out in the fields discussing with his next neighbor the wisest rotation of crops, or in the shoemaker's shop pounding sole-leather, there is something in his face, and in his phraseology, and in his manner, that demonstrates the grace of God in his heart. He can talk on religion without awkwardly dragging it in by the ears. He loves

God, and loves the souls of all whom he meets, and is interested in their present and eternal destiny. For fifty or sixty years he lives that kind of life and then gets through with it and goes into heaven a ransomed soul.
But I am not going to describe the port into which that ship has entered. I am not going to describe the pilot who met him outside at the "lights." I am not going to say anything about the crowds of friends who met him on the crystalline wharves up which he goes on steps of chrysoprases. For God in his words to Job calls me to look at the path of foam in the wake of that ship, and I tell you it is all a-gleam with splendors of kindness done, and rolling with illumined tears that were wiped away, and a-dash with congratulations, and clear out to the horizon in all directions is the sparkling, flashing, billowing phosphores-cence of a Christian life. "He maketh a path to shine after him."

And here I correct one of the mean notions which at some time takes possession of all of us, and that is as to the brevity of human life. When I bury some very useful man, clerical or lay, in his thirtieth or fortieth year, I say, "What a waste of energies! It was hardly worth while for him to get ready for Christian work, for he had so soon to quit it." But the fact is that I may insure any man or woman who does any good on a large or small scale for a life on earth as long as the world lasts. Sickness, trolley-car accidents, death itself can no more destroy his life than they can tear down one of the rings of Saturn. You can start one good word, one kind act, one cheerful smile, on a mission that will last until the world becomes a bonfire, and out of that blaze it will pass into the heavens never to halt as long as God lives.

There were in the seventeenth century men and women whose names you never heard of who are to-day influencing schools, colleges, churches, nations. You can no more measure the gracious results of their lifetime than you could measure the length and breadth and depth of the phosphores-cence last night following the ship of the White Star line 1,500 miles out at sea. How the courage and consecration of others inspires us to follow, as a general in the American army, cool amid the flying bullets, inspired a trembling soldier, who said afterward, "I was nearly scared to death, but I saw the old man's white mustache over his shoulder, and went on." Aye, we are all following somebody, either in right or wrong directions. A few days ago I stood beside the garlanded casket of a gospel minister, and in my remarks had occasion to recall a snowy night in a farmhouse when I was a boy, and an evangelist spending a night at my father's house, who said something so tender and beautiful and impressive that it led me into the kingdom of God, and decided my destiny for this world and the next. You will, before twenty-four hours go by, meet some man or woman with a big pack of care and trouble, and you may say something to him or her that will endure until this world shall have been so far lost in the past that nothing but the stretch of angelic memory will be able to realize that it ever existed at all. I am not talking of remarkable men and women, but of what ordinary folks can do. I am not speaking of the phosphorescence in the wake of a "Campania," but of the phosphores-cence in the track of a Newfoundland fishingsmack. God makes thunderbolts out of sparks, and out of the small words and deeds of a small life he can launch a power that will flash and burn and thunder through the eternities. How do you like this prolungation of your earthly life by deathless influence? Many a babe that died at six months of age by the anxiety created in the parent's heart to meet that child in realms seraphic, is living yet in the transformed heart and life of those parents, and will live on forever in the history of that family. If this be the opportunity of ordinary souls, what is the opportunity of those who have especial intellectual, or social, or monetary equipment? Have you any arithmetic capable of estimating the influence of our good and gracious friend who a few days ago went up to rest—George W. Childs of Philadelphia? From a newspaper that was printed for thirty years without one word of defamation, or scurrility, or scandal, and putting chief emphasis on virtue and charity, and clean intelligence, he reaped a fortune for himself and then distributed a vast amount of it among the poor and struggling, putting his invalid and aged reporters on pensions, until his name stands everywhere for large-heartedness and sympathy and help and highest style of Christian gentleman. In an era which had in the chairs of its journalism a Horace Greely, and a Henry J. Raymond, and a James Gordon Bennett, and an Erastus Brooks, and a George William Curtis, and an Irenaeus Prime, none of them will be longer remembered than George W. Childs. Staying away from the unveiling of the monument he had reared at a large expense in our Greenwood in memory of Prof. Proctor, the astronomer, lest I should say something in praise of the man who had paid for the monument. By all acknowledged a representative of the highest American journalism. If you would calculate his influence for good you must count how many sheets of his newspaper have been published in the last quarter of a century, and how many people have read them, and the effect not only upon those readers, but upon all whom they shall influence for all time, while you add to all that the work of the churches he helped build, and of the institutions of mercy he helped found. Better give up before you start the measuring of the phosphorescence in the wake of that ship of the Celestial line. Who can tell the postmortem influence of a Savonarola, a Winklereid, a Gattenberg, a Marlborough, a Decatur, a Toussaint, a Bolivar, a Clarkson, a Robert Raikes, a Harlan Page, who had 125 Sabbath scholars, eighty-four of whom became Christians, and six of them ministers of the gospel.

With gratitude, and penitence, and worship, I mention the grandest life that was ever lived. That ship of light was launched from the heavens nearly 1900 years ago, angelic hosts chanting, and from the celestial wharves the ship sprang into the roughest sea that ever tossed. Its billows were made up of the wrath of men and devils, Herod and Sanhed-rim persecutions stirring the deep with red wrath, and all the hurricanes of woe smote it, until on the rocks of Golgotha that life struck with a resound of agony that appalled the earth and the heavens. But in the wake of that life what a phosphores-cence of smiles on the cheek of souls pardoned, and lives reformed, and nations redeemed. The millennium itself is only one roll of that irradiated wave of gladness and benediction. In the sublimity of all senses it may be said of him, "He maketh a path to shine after him."

But I can not look upon that luminosity that follows ships without realizing how fond the Lord is of life.
That fire of the deep is life, myriads of creatures all a-swim, and a-play, and a-ramp in parks of marine beauty laid out, and parterred, and roseated, and blossomed by omnipotence. What is the use of those creatures called by the naturalists "crustaceans" and "copepods," not more than one out of hundreds of billions of which are ever seen by human eye? God created them for the same reason that he creates flowers in places where no human foot ever makes them tremble, and no human nostril ever inhales their redolence, and no human eye ever sees their charm. In the botanical world they prove that God loves flowers, as in the marine world the phosphori prove that he loves life, and he loves life in play, life in brilliancy of gladness, life in exuberance.

And so I am led to believe that he loves our life if we fulfill our mission as fully as the phosphori fulfill theirs.
The Son of God came "that we might have life, and have it more abundantly." But I am glad to tell you that our God is not the God sometimes described as a harsh critic at the head of the universe, or an infinite scold; or a God that loves funerals better than weddings; or a God that prefers tears to laughter, an omnipotent Nero, a ferocious Nana Sahib; but the loveliest being in the universe, loving flowers, and life, and play, whether of phosphori in the wake of the Majestic, or of the human race keeping a holiday.

But, mark you, that the phosphorescence has a glow that the night monopolizes, and I ask you not only what kind of influence you are going to leave in the world as you pass through it, but what light are you going to throw across the world's night of sin and sorrow? People who are sailing on smooth sea and at noon do not need much sympathy, but what are you going to do for people in the night of misfortune? Will you drop on them shadow, or will you kindle for them phosphorescence? At this moment there are more people crying than laughing; more people on the round world this moment hungry than well-fed; more households bereft than homes unbroken. What are you going to do about it? "Well," says yonder soul, "I would like to do something toward illumining the great ocean of human wretchedness, but I can not do much." Can you do as much as one of the phosphori in the middle of the Atlantic ocean, creatures smaller than the point of a sharp pin? "O, yes," you say. Then do that. Shine! Stand before the looking glass and experiment to see if you can not get that scowl off your forehead; that peevish look out of your lips. Have at least one bright ribbon in your bonnet. Embroider at least one white cord somewhere in the midnight of your apparel. Do not any longer impersonate a funeral!
Shine! Do say something cheerful about society, and about the world. Put a few drops of heaven into your disposition. Once in awhile substitute a sweet orange for a sour lemon. Remember that pessimism is blasphemy, and that optimism is Christianity. Throw some light on the night ocean. If you can not be a lantern swinging in the rigging, be one of the tiny phosphori back of the keel.
Shine! "Let your light so shine before men that others seeing your good works may glorify your Father which is in heaven." Make one person happy every day and do that for twenty years and you will have made seven thousand three hundred happy. You know a man who has lost all his property by an unfortunate investment, or by putting his name on the back of a friend's note? After you have taken a brief nap, which every man and woman is entitled to on a Sunday afternoon, go and cheer up that man. You can, if God helps you, say something that will do him good after both of you have been dead a thousand years. Shine!
You know of a family with a bad boy who has run away from home. Go before night and tell that father and mother the parable of the prodigal son, and that some of the illustrious and useful men now in church and state had a silly passage in their lives and ran away from home. Shine! You know of a family that has lost a child, and the silence of the nursery glooms the whole house from cellar to garret.
Go before night and tell them how much that child has happily escaped since the most prosperous life on earth is a struggle.
Shine! You know of some invalid who is dying for lack of an appetite. She can not get well because she can not eat. Broil a chicken and take it to her before night, and cheat her poor appetite into keen relish. Shine! You know of some one who likes you, and you like him, and he ought to be a Christian. Go tell him what religion has done for you, and ask him if you can pray for him. Shine! Oh, for a disposition so charged with sweetness and light that we can not help but shine! Remember if you can not be a leviathan lashing the ocean into fury, you can be one of the phosphori, doing your part toward making a path of phosphorescence. Then I will tell you what impression you will leave as you pass through this life and after you are gone. I will tell you to your face and not leave it for the minister who of-ficiates at your obsequies. The failure in all eulogium of the departed is that they can not hear it. All hear it except the one most interested. This, in substance, is what I or some one else will say of you on such an occasion: "We gather for offices of respect to this departed one. It is impossible to tell how many tears he wiped away; how many burdens he lifted; or how many souls he was under God instrumental in saving. His influence will never cease. We are all better for having known him. That pillow of flowers on the casket was presented by his Sabbath school class, all of whom he brought to Christ. That cross of flowers at the head was presented by the orphan asylum which he befriended. Those three single flowers—one was sent by a poor woman for whom he bought a ton of coal, and one was by a waif of the street whom he rescued through the midnight mission and the other was from a prison cell which he had often visited to encourage repentance in a young man who had done wrong. Those three loose flowers mean quite as much as the costly garlands now breathing their aroma through this saddened home, crowded with sympathizers. 'Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord; they rest from their labors, and their works do follow them.' Or if it should be the more solemn burial at sea, let it be after the sun has gone down, and the captain has read the appropriate liturgy, and the ship's bell has tolled, and you are let down from the stern of the vessel into the resplendent phosphorescence at the wake of the ship.

Then let some one say, in the words of my text, "He maketh a path to

A YOUNG GIRL'S FORTUNE.

Nothing appeals so strongly to a mother's affection as her daughter just budding into womanhood. Following is an instance: "Our daughter, Blanche, now 15 years of age, had been terribly afflicted with nervousness, and had lost the entire use of her right arm, and she was in such a condition that we had to keep her from school and abandon her music lessons. In fact, we feared St. Vitus dance, and were positive but for an invaluable remedy she would have had that terrible affliction. We had employed physicians, but she received no benefit from them. The first of last August she weighed but 75 pounds, and although she has taken only three bottles of Nervine she now weighs 106 pounds; her nervousness and symptoms of St. Vitus dance are entirely gone, she attends school regularly, and studies with comfort and ease. She has recovered complete use of her arm, her appetite is splendid, and no money could procure for our daughter the health Dr. Miles' Nervine has brought her."
When my brother recommended the remedy I had no faith in patent medicines, and would not listen to him, but as his last letter he sent us a bottle, we began giving it to Blanche, and the effect was almost immediate.—Mrs. R. K.
Bullock, Brighton, N. Y.

Woman's Color is an Unfailing Thermometer.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)
A woman's thermometer is her color.
She is red with embarrassment or some deep emotion;
she is white with fright; she is supposed to be green with envy; but when she is blue it means that she is sick.

It is not the fault of the woman if she has the blues
and that "want-to-be-lone" feeling.
It is the fault of her condition which makes happiness impossible.

No woman can be happy and light-hearted when painful female complaints crush out her life.
If she is melancholy, excitable, nervous, dizzy, or troubled with sleeplessness or fainting spells, they are symptoms of serious female weakness.

A leaf out of the experience of Mrs.
Anna Miller, who lives at Duhring, Pa., shows that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will cure that terrible weakness and bearing-down pain in the abdomen, the dizziness in the head, the feeling of irritability, and loss of appetite.
"I can highly recommend your Vegetable Compound," she writes, "for all female complaints. It's my greatest friend."

Catarrh

COLD IN THE HEAD
relieved instantly by one application of Birney's Catarrh Powder

REV. FATHER CLARKE, Sec'y to the Rt. Rev. Bishop of Columbus, Ohio, writes:
"Gentlemen:—I cannot say enough for your Powder. It has cured me of an aggravated attack of catarrh when nothing else could help me. Am delighted with it. All my friends to whom I administered are quite enthusiastic over it. The good states speak most encouragingly of the need of it in the Hospital under their care. I will do anything to speak a good word for the remedy to help others who are suffering."
M. E. FERGUSON, Custodian U. S. Appraiser's Stores, Chicago, writes:
"Gentlemen:—Being almost entirely deaf for a number of years past and getting no relief from many so-called cures which I tried, was induced by a friend to try Dr. Birney's Catarrh Powder for my deafness. Have recovered my hearing entirely, so that I can now hear a watch tick plainly, it being held 15 inches from my ear. I took upon it as a positive cure for my deafness and have recommended its use to many of my friends and can say I have never heard of a case where it has failed to relieve."

The Greatest Sale of All.

Everybody concedes it. Thousands of lips have spread the news--every man, woman and child within hundreds of miles of Janesville seems to know about it.

Takes Nerve

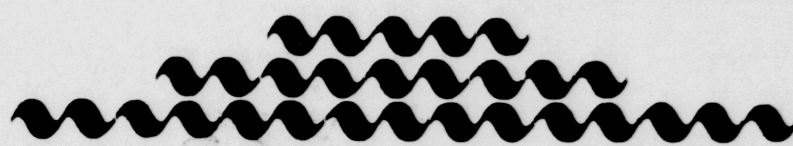

To come out flat-footed and confess that so large a sum of money must be raised within a limited time--but that is just where we stand; we've got to have it, and that's all there is to it.

Desperate Needs

Require Desperate Efforts; we're making them. In our 15 years' experience in merchandising we've never absolutely and mercilessly butchered values as we are now. We care nothing for cost. We care naught for values--or how much of a loss we make, so that we reach the goal, the $10,000.

Instantaneous Response.

Hundreds respond to our ads. every day. Our Great Big Store was packed--yes, jammed all of yesterday--up to the closing hour, 6 o'clock last night. The result was most gratifying to us in every way but one--you all can guess that one. The most skeptic were convinced that this sale offers opportunities--never equaled before by any one in the history of Janesville.

Every man in the city TAKE NOTICE !

This evening from 5 to 10 o'clock we will devote to overcoats, although it is cold it will pass away. We have twelve of the handsomest fall and winter overcoats ever brought to this city. $13.50 Each.

Come and see them. If you have not the money to pay in full, make your selection and pay a deposit, and we will lay away for a few days.
